

Executive Presentation Skills® - 2014 Updates

Also NEW for Executive Presentation Skills®:

- Customized Communispond Tablets
- Communispond Digital

Executive Presentation Skills® now comes with the option to include customized Communispond tablets. These tablets come preinstalled with Communispond Digital -- giving students on-the-go, lifetime access to our course materials, and digital learning tools, such as LearnTO videos that can be used for post-class reinforcement. Students also have the ability to record their in-class presentations on their tablet. All this and the tablets are theirs to keep!

If you've never taken Executive Presentation Skills®, now's the time. We've evolved the course that everyone knows and loves to include when and how to incorporate storytelling into your presentations and how to present effectively when using a tablet.

- Storytelling - Storytelling has infiltrated the business world, but how does one successfully incorporate it into a presentation? Learn the benefits of storytelling and how it can be used in a presentation.
- Presenting with a Tablet - With tablet sales expected to outpace PC sales by 2015, it's inevitable that employees will have to present from a tablet, if they haven't already. Tablets can be a great presentation tool, but if used incorrectly, they can be awkward and distracting. Learn how to avoid this and use it to help convey your message.
- Presenting with Power while Seated - While the primary focus of Executive Presentation Skills® has always been presenting while standing, this existing module has been updated with content that includes tools on how to present with a tablet when seated, so you can feel comfortable presenting in both situations.
